CLEVER POLICE WORK RESTORES WATCH

Movers Stole Timepiece from House at Roslyn—Abington Officers Find It and Arrest Thief.

Through a clever strategem, the police of Abington last Tuesday night succeeded in locating a stolen watch and Masonic charm a short time after they were first missed and also captured the man who had them in his possession.

The watch and charm belonged to John Berlin, who moved Tuesday from Tioga to a home in Roslyn. Shortly after the movers had left he missed his watch and at once telephoned the Abington police. A detail of police started after the movers in an automobile on the barest suspicion. Catching up with them, the police were afraid to arrest them for the larceny of the watch, but finally took them into custody for driving without lights.

At the police station they were told that they must be searched before being locked up. Leroy Bernard, of Uber street, near Fairmount avenue, asked to be allowed to leave the room for a moment, but was told to wait until he had been searched. He then made a dive for the door, fell over a chair and the watch and charm fell from his pocket. He was arraigned before Magistrate Williams and held in $500 bail for court, while the other men were discharged.

A petition of property owners from Horace avenue, Abington village, asking for sidewalks and curbs was presented and it was signed by a majority of property owners on that street, an ordinance requiring this be done was introduced.

The solicitor reported that the request to lay sidewalks on Mt. Carmel avenue could not be granted as it was outside of the village of Glenside and the land not sufficiently built up.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS WIN SUIT

Effort to Hold Southampton School Board Responsible for Extra Cost of Feasterville School House Fails—Case Tried at Doylestown.

Southampton township residents have been greatly interested this week at the court proceedings at Doylestown growing out of the effort to surcharge the cost of extra work on the new Feasterville school house to the members of the Southampton School Board, who were in office when the building was erected.

The proceedings were brought by certain citizens who backed the township auditors, who declined to pass the bill for extras, which amounted to nearly $1000. The case was fought by able attorneys on both sides and many of the residents or the township were witnesses. Building experts were also called to show the character of the extra work done. Two days of the court's time was taken in hearing the testimony and arguments. The jury decided on Thursday in favor of the school directors.

There were fourteen items on which the directors were surcharged. After the work was done over a Committee of Citizens complained for the reasons that the extras were not covered in the contract price of $6,375. The auditors did not find that the work was not done, but they questioned the management of the directors in not having included the things complained of in the original contract.

The directors who appealed from the report were M. Leedom, Wallace D. Heaton, Edwin E. Ridge, William G. Selner, T. Hart Ross and Nathaniel Vansant.

The auditors were Eugene McCorkle, H. Voorhees Hogeland and Will H. Yerkes.

COUNTY AUDITORS OUT THIS MONTH

Will Make Final Audit at the End of April—Their Work Hereafter to be Done by County Controller—Cost Greatly Increased.

The Montgomery County Auditors, Irvin H. Bardman, Robert Kepler and John H. Ziegler, will on April 29 of this year go out of office. They will lose their county positions not because of defeat or discrepancy but because after that date there will be no further use for their services. The work that the County Auditors have always performed in the past, will, beginning May 1, be done by County Comptroller John N. Jacobs and his staff of assistants.

The County Auditors must make one more audit this year, which by the way is the first year in the history of the county that two audits were ever made. Early in January they audited the accounts of the county officials up until the closing of business Saturday, December 31, 1910. During the last week in April they will again audit the accounts of these officials from January 2 until April 29, of this year.

When the audit has been completed it will take the same course as other audits but in the future no county auditors will be necessary. The County Comptroller will after May 1 examine and approve all bills contracted for by the county officials and he will act in the capacity of an entire auditing board. As he does not handle any of the county cash and cannot give contracts no auditors are necessary to examine his office as counts.

The county auditing system of the county from $300 to $400 per year. The new controller's office will cost as many thousands as the auditors did hundreds, but the controller's office is expected to be more efficient.

An old structure next to the present trust company building will be torn down and the York road front extended. This will improve the appearance of our main street and will afford the Trust Company more room for its growing business. The upper floors will be rented for offices.

There will be a musicale and dance at the Old York Road Country Club this Saturday evening. The greens committee composed of Charles P. Jarden, Joseph H. Tracy, Dr. M. K. Neiffer, Jerome H. Shelp, Joseph L. Jones, Percy M. Davis, G. Henry Stetson, Edward L. Bacon, have sent out their program, showing a number of golf tournaments, the first being for the Wyncote cup on April 29th to May 6th. The Jenkintown cup tournament will be on May 13th to May 20th. REAL ESTATE

DEVELOPMENT AT RYDAL

Handsome Residences Being Built—Roads Opened.

No part of the York road section has shown a more rapid development in the past five years than the tract of beautiful country which lies around Rydal station. About 450 acres, within easy distance of the station, are now in the course of development. This ground is being developed under the direction of Herkness & Stetson, who purchased about one-half of it one year ago. The tract comprises the Walter E. Hering property of 200 acres, 75 acres formerly owned by the estate of R. V. Massey, Jr., the Huntingdon farms of 150 acres, formerly owned by John Wanamaker, and 20 acres of the Gideon Stoddart property. A large part of the Hering tract has been already opened, under the direction of Walter E. Hering, the owner, by the construction of several good roads and drives. Roads are now being built through the Massey tract and work will begin immediately on several roads which have been planned through the Huntingdon farms property.

Of the Massey and Stoddart tracts, 50 acres were sold to the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, which were at the time of the sale a part of its magnificent golf course. The club formerly rented this ground. Most of it was taken from the Massey tract, which lies close to the golf links. Several purchases of ground, in acreage, have been made within the past few months from the balance of this tract by buyers who contemplate building handsome residences on the ground. Alfred D. Pardee bought seven acres. Frederick M. Dunn, 6½ acres and William P. Denegree 6¼ acres. Residences on these tracts will be completed during the coming summer season. In addition, nine other residences, ranging in price from $15,000 to $30,000, have been built and sold to Dr. Albert N. Bagge, J. W. Llewellyn, Harold Cross, Morton G. Fetterolf, Ernest E. Brantigam, Benjamin T. Britt, Mrs. Mary E. Britt and W. Howard West, who purchased and remodeled an old Colonial farmhouse on Cloverly lane with five acres of ground, which he has just sold to Mrs. James H. Bayard, of Germantown.

HUNTERS' FEE BILL IS URGED

Friends of Measure Asked to Press Its Passage

WOULD BENEFIT WHOLE STATE

Bill Provides For Annual Payment of $1 by Resident Hunters as License Fee—Much Good Can Be Done With Revenue So Derived—Legislature Will Soon Decide Fate of Measure. Now Before Senate.

Intense interest, state-wide in its scope, is being aroused in the Resident Hunters' License Bill, which has just been favorably reported to the Senate at Harrisburg. The measure is now before the Senate for consideration and the fate of the bill will be decided within a week.

Senators and Representatives are favorable to the bill, though some are still awaiting the final word from their constituents. Expressions of opinion are being eagerly sought at Harrisburg and a committee of citizens urging the passage of the bill have been instructed to advise all voters in the state to make their wishes known to their representatives.

In the canvass already made not one voter in 500 has opposed the bill and in nearly every instance its provisions have been received with enthusiasm.

The bill provides for the payment of $1 per year as a license fee by all resident hunters. Land owners and bona fide tenants and their children hunting on their own or rented lands, are exempt. Fifty per cent of the revenue so derived will be used in payment bounties for the destruction of weasels, mink, hawks and vermin that d stroy song birds and insectiverous birds and poultry.

It is estimated that the amount thus to be distributed in bounties will be about $75,000 per year. Unless this bill passes there will be no bounty provided for the next two years, as the state has refused to appropriate any more money for that purpose.

The remaining 50 per cent of the revenue raised will be applied to the protection, propagation and distribution of game under the supervision of the state game commission.

At present the appropriation available to the game commission amounts to only $20,000 per year. This meager amount must be applied to protect over 28,000,000 acres and as the pending measure will provide a revenue of $150,000 to $200,000 per year the game commission will develop into a useful and highly valuable branch of state government.

While residents of the large cities have been slow to realize the fact, those who dwell in the suburban and country districts have been quick to realize that the proposed bill if passed will increase all bird and game life within the state. The payment of the small annual fee of $1 by those who love the recreation of hunting will double and treble the number of birds and game throughout the state and mean a large increase in food supply. It will make possible a good day's shooting to the man with limited time and means without the expense of long trips. It will undoubtedly soon bring about a longer open season and more liberal daily allowances per gun of game taken.

Friends of the bill promise that it would soon bring about a friendly cooperation between the paid game warden and the forester of the forestry department that will largely decrease losses from forest fires and promote the betterment of game conditions throughout the state.

As important as all other conditions, the additional bounty provided for the destruction of vermin and pests will save the farmers additional thousands yearly.

A peculiar feature in connection with the bill is the fact that hunters themselves are asking the privilege of paying the tax that will insure these benefits. The committee having the bill in charge are all men who love hunting as a pastime. The committee consists of Edwin K. Morse, chairman, Pittsburg; John M. Phillips, Carrick; Charles A. Painter, Pittsburg; R. R. Bennett, Pittsburg; H. F. Ward, Washington, Pa., and Thomas Leggett, Pittsburg.

There is, admittedly, no state in the Union with better opportunity for the development of game and bird life and magnificent and highly valuable forest resources than Pennsylvania. Wanton destruction of animal life by irresponsible persons is causing irreparable damage to the undeserving and the proposed act is regarded by all fair huntsmen as a modest but legitimate tax for providing a fund that will forever safeguard the state. In Harrisburg it is recognized as the most unselfish act ever urged before the legislature.

The committee urges all interested in game and forest protection to communicate at once with their representatives in Harrisburg and urge the passage of this measure. State representatives and senators are anxiously awaiting the voice of the people and it should make itself heard in unmistakable terms. The senate will take first action upon the bill and it is imperative that the public will be registered at once.

GOBBLER OR GOOSE—WHICH?

It was midnight in ancient Rome.

After the thrill of the slaughter of a thousand in the arena, topped off with red wine, roast goose and garlic, the Romans retired, and soon their sonorous snore shook the rocky Tiber's shore. Then suddenly all the Roman geese cackled, and the burghers tumbled out of bed to find the enemy at the gates, and Rome was saved.

Just so the fat and toothsome gander will save Uncle Sam the ignominy of having no big bird on the center plate at holiday feasts.

You must eat rubberneck.

"Not for mine!" you cry.

"Turkey's the national bird, and your goose idea is absurd."

Now, dear, don't be severe. This much is clear—the American people may decide an election with their ballots, but they can't decide this question with their palates.

Who blames you for loving juicy breast meat? "There are others."

Yet the American public may rise, strike a Patrick Henry attitude and yell, "Gimme turkey or gimme me death!" and still get left, for the fellow's not born who can carve 7,000,000 turkeys into enough to help 100,000,000 other fellows to stuff.

Some might get a little smell

That a sharp snout could hardly tell,

But millions more would raise the yell:

"Turkey! Gimme turkey!"

This is the cry today, but turkeys are growing scarcer and scarcer, while turkey lovers are more numerous than ever, and in some localities this year, even where people had boodle to burn, the festive bird couldn't be secured for love or money.

Unscientific breeding has brought disease to the turkey tribe, and many who formerly bred them have quit. Then, speculators have quietly bought up the birds on farm after farm, and thus many have had to eat rubberneck or nothing.

In the years to come it's going to be goose or nothing but ordinary quack or rooster unless these fellows preaching turkey culture get down off the fence and do the stunt.

Now, there's the whole "effete east" yelling to the live west, "Hustle there and raise us turkeys!"

Why, when a crop fails in the east they just lean back on their cushions and sing:

Out west they've got enough for all
Upon this great terrestrial ball.
If the whole east blow up and bust,
In God and the great west we trust.

But though California, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and the rest of the west are raising millions of the best they can't supply a nation of turkey lovers.

The future feast will be gobbler or gander, and if we refuse to grow gobblers our goose is cooked.

DON'TS.

Don't expect fine stock for little money. That's out of date and awful funny.

Don't sell a customer bad goods and think that's the last of it. Rotten chickens and eggs come home to roost.

Don't condemn faking and fake on the sly. All fakers go to hades by and by.

Don't keep too much stock over winter. A crowded henhouse makes a flat pocketbook.

Don't select market fowls in the dark nor take birds in filthy coops to market.

Don't keep eggs in the cellar with onions and turnips. Customers will turn up their noses.

Don't take ungraded eggs to market. Customers will pick out all the big ones.

Don't borrow incubators and forget to take them back nor let them rot in some old leaky shack.

Don't put every judge down as a grafter because you didn't get a prize. Your fowls may be standard and yet be undersize.

SHOT GUN SUICIDE.

Edward Warren Shaffer, a well-known young farmer who lived on the farm owned by the Woolman estate about a mile below Yardley, committed suicide Monday afternoon by blowing off the top of his head with a shot gun.

Shaffer was about 36 years of age, married and had a wife and one daughter about a year and a half old. It is said his wife scolded him for getting drunk and while melancholy he committed suicide.

Letters of administration have been granted in the estate of Anna R. Shelmire, of Cheltenham, to Jenkintown Trust Company. Estimated value of personality, $500; no real estate.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BUCKS COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Lowering skies did not dampen the ardor of the white ribboners of Bucks county, who met at Langhorne on the fifteenth of April, to hold their 26th annual convention.

The officers are: President, Lettie W. Eyre; treasurer, Lavinia W. Blackfan, of Newtown; corresponding secretary, Sara E. Twining, of Richboro; recording secretary, Marion L. White, of Dolington.

Devotions were conducted by Emily P. Packer, of Newtown, Superintendent of evangelistic work. Stirring songs and hymns and charming vocal solos by Mrs. Russell Clayton and Miss Stradling enlivened the program. The children of the L. T. L. welcomed the ladies in a very nice address by Helen Gillingham while a class nicely rendered "The Song my Mother Sang." The various activities of the unions and two Y's, show good work done in newling schools, L. T. L's, and at social meetings, which are a large factor in educating public sentiment up to the standard of total abstinence, for the individual and prohibition for the State.

With over 42,000,000 people now living in dry territory even black Pennsylvania can be made white if every good man voted as he really thinks is right. Makefield Union has more than doubled its membership and has held six social meetings during the year with 189 present at one meeting. Money has been contributed to assist various unions, and a house rented by one union that it might not be used for saloon purposes.

Mrs. C. Y. Burns, of Bristol, showed it was a privilege to belong to the W. C. T. U., which leads the forces at work for the uplift of humanity.

Good reports of work done for peace by arbitration, anti narcotics; legislative work; red letter days; mothers' work and social purity; juvenile courts and industrial education, were given with good addresses by ministers and by Mrs. Fessenden, a national lecturer, of Boston, who also gave a logical, convincing address in the evening.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTORIST

How Tires Should be Washed.

Washing tires and washing a car are two different propositions. Water alone should be used to wash tires and as little of it as necessary. After every run the envelope should be wiped clean with a damp sponge or well-wrung cloth.

A common mistake made by motorists is to mix kerosene with the water. This may be advisable when washing the body of a car to remove mud and dust from the varnish, but it should never be done when washing tires because kerosene eats rubber. This fact can be readily proved by immersing a small piece of rubber in kerosene and allowing it to soak. The rubber will soon swell and lose its elasticity. The reason for this is apparent. Kerosene is rich in fatty properties which remain after the evaporation of the gases. Every time a tire is washed with a kerosene mixture the rubber is deprived of more of its strength.

When washing tires it is best to simply dampen a sponge with clean water, care being taken that the sponge is not soaked and dripping. Then wipe the tires dry with a cloth or handful of waste.

This, and many other phases of the tire question are intimately covered in the "Book of Bibendum" sent free to motorists upon request by the Michelin Tire Company, of Milltown, New Jersey.

Charles Cope, of Wycombe, tripped over a rain water conductor, Friday evening, at his home and fell, breaking one of the small bones in his ankle.

TIMELY RECIPES

CLUB SANDWICH.

This club sandwich is a great favorite. Before chopping the meat from one chicken, rub the bowl into which it will drop with the cut side of an onion. Mash the yolks of four hard-cooked eggs very fine with a silver fork and add them to the chopped meat. Season with minced parsley, lemon and onion juice, salt, pepper and celery salt. Blend all well together and add enough melted butter, olive oil or soup stock to moisten the whole sufficiently to spread on thinly sliced, very sparingly buttered white bread.

CREAM LAYER CAKE.

Weigh six eggs; take their weight in powdered sugar and one-half of their weight in sifted flour. Separate the whites and yolks of the eggs and beat together the yolks and sugar until very light—this should take about fifteen minutes. Whip the whites to a stiff dry froth; add them to the yolks alternately with the flour. Drop in a pinch of salt and one teaspoonful of vanilla, then stir in quickly and carefully one scant teaspoonful of baking powder. Divide the batter into two Washington pie tins and bake about fifteen minutes in a quick oven.

FILLING—Scald one cupful of milk in a double boiler. Beat together in a bowl two even tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, the yolks of three eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar; turn this into the scalded milk and stir until thick; take from the fire, add one teaspoonful of vanilla, and when cool spread between the cakes.

PACKAGE EXPRESS LIMITED.

The State Railroad Commission has dismissed a complaint made by P. H. Morris, a Newtown merchant, against railroad companies which refused to allow him to send and receive packages from Philadelphia on the same terms as an individual.

The Commission advised him that if he desired to have articles carried for himself and his family he is entitled to have it done, but when it comes to carrying articles for use in business and intended for sale, the Commission holds he should pay regular charges.

FINGERS CUT OFF.

While splitting wood for Hugh B. Ely, of Worthington's Corner, David Hess, of Furlong, had the misfortune of cutting two of his fingers on his right hand, necessitating the amputation of the fore finger, also the second finger, at the first joint. Dr. E. M. Ellis, of Forest Grove is attending him.

THE INQUIRER WAR HISTORY.

Fifty years ago, on April 12, 1861, Fort Sumter was fired upon.

Fifty years ago this country was just awakening to the shock of the greatest war that has ever been fought.

In this semi-centennial year the Philadelphia Inquirer will print a continued story of the momentous events of that period which altered the history of this country if not of the entire world.

A complete history of the Civil War retold in graphic and dramatically interesting manner by an expert historian.

The entire narrative of the great conflict, as told by war correspondents of The Philadelphia Inquirer in the field from 1861 to 1865 will be retold with historical accuracy in the light of later developments.

This is not the story of the war reprinted day by day and lasting through the long drawn out period of nearly five years.

From the firing upon Fort Sumter, in April, '61, to Bull Run, in July, '61, no critical tests of the strength of the two great armies occurred, the period being occupied mostly with recruiting and some few minor skirmishes and battles.

The Inquirer will tell the entire story of the war in the next three months.

A full page every Sunday will describe in their order the great battles of the war, while the intervening articles in the daily issues of the Inquirer will make a connected story, covering the entire conflict.

Do not miss this highly instructive and entertaining history, which will be a daily and Sunday feature in the Inquirer during the next three months of the semi-centennial year.

The Civil War will be the great topic of the year, and those who aim to be well informed will find these articles of inestimable value.

If you are not now a regular reader leave your order at once for both the Daily and Sunday Inquirer.

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"There never was a worse case."

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Under a ruling of the Post Office Department, at Washington, which went into effect on January 1st., 1908, publishers of weekly newspapers are not permitted to extend credit to a subscriber for a longer period than one year. Names of subscribers who have not paid their subscription for a period of one year or more must be taken off the list or the publisher is liable to a penalty.

We are therefore sending out bills to all subscribers who owe a year or more, and have instructed our collector, Edwin Kirk, to call this ruling to the attention of those from whom he collects.

Prompt settlement is urged, or accounts must be placed in the hands of attorneys.

We have no choice in this matter as much as we would be willing to favor certain cases.

The SPIRIT must comply with this ruling of the United States Government.

BOY MISSING.

The police have been asked to find Walter Ellen, Jr., 16 years old, who disappeared from his home at Weldon, on April 10. According to his father, who is employed at the Wharton Switch Company, the boy had no reason to leave home and never showed any desire to go away. He is described as being five feet eight inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds. He was of light complexion. Because of his size, he usually passes for more than his real age.

Martha Hamilton, of Glenside, instituted divorce proceedings in Norristown court on Wednesday. She alleges that her husband, William J. Hamilton deserted her on November 30, 1908, without just cause. They were married September 5, 1908. Mrs. Hamilton was married before, and has grown children, it is said. She is a woman of considerable property, and resides at Glenside, while her husband is said to live in Olney.

GERMAN VS. ITALIAN.

Frank Schuck, an Italian of Edge Hill, and Charles Jacobs, a German, of Glenside, had a battle royal, and both landed in the lockup of the Cheltenham police station at Ogontz, on Saturday last.

At the hearing before Justice of the Peace Comly it was shown that Schuck had purchased a firee from Jacobs and agreed to pay $7. The tree was nearly all removed, when Jacobs made a demand on Schuck for the money, and Schuck thinking that his honest was doubted used pretty plain language to the German, who went into the house and brought out a club and threatened the italian, who in turn used his axe. No one was hurt much, but Jacobs had a slight wound on his head.

The Squire imposed fines and costs on both, afterward remitting the fines.

OUR FIREMEN SAVE HOUSE.

The Southampton Fire Company quickly responded to an alarm on Sunday night at 11.30 at the home of Mr. Kelly, of Churchville. The fire had been confined to the cellar by a bucket brigade of neighbors but was making rapid headway in the flooring and joist. The fire started from an incubator in the cellar. Both engines were taken to the fire but only the chemical engine was used and the blaze was quickly smothered out. Mr. Kelly and other residents of Churchville were loud in their praise of the quick and effective work of the company. Too much praise cannot be given Percy Leedom in view of his bravery in facing the dense smoke in the cellar. Engineer Parker Danenhower and his assistant, the Rev. Anderson, did excellent work in keeping the engine working without a hitch. Twenty members of the company responded to the alarm and the hand enginge was attached to the well for instant use had the fire gotten beyond the control of the chemical engine. Every member assumed his place without confusion. J. Fetters tied the hand engine to the back of his big wagon and rapid progress was made to the fire. Walter Yerkes supplied the team for the chemical engine. Mr. Kelly was so much pleased with the work of the firemen that he contributed $100 to the company. At any future fires the chief will appoint members to act as fire police, whose duties it will be to keep all but members of the fire company beyond the fire lines. Contributing members are being solicited among the residents as the treasury is entirely cleaned up and four hundred more feet of hose is needed. Give your help.

Progress is being made on the entertainment to be given for the benefit of fife and drum corps uniform fund. It was voted to hold its first parade with the fire company which will parade as soon as the hand engine is repainted.

And so the efforts to put our township school directors in a hole has resulted in a fizzle. The jury seemed to think there was a personal or political axe to grind behind the prosecution. The residents have been greatly interested in the trial at Doylestown this week. The directors were charged with unwarranted overpayments in building the new school house at Feasterville.

Congratulations and praise were showered on the dramatic club by Ivyland residents for the professional ability shown in presenting the comedy drama "East Siders" at that place on Saturday, April 15th. VOYAGE TO HAMBURG

Incidents of a Trip From Philadelphia Entertainingly Told—Wonders of the Sea and Ship as Seen by a Land Lubber—Dr. J. B. Carrell Tells of his Voyage Across the Atlantic, Through the English Channel and into the North Sea.

On Board S. S. Prinz Adalbert,
North Sea, April 5, 1911.

To the Editor of the Public Spirit and my many friends, who are its readers:—

If on the morning of March 21st, any one had told me I would be at longitude 19.3 degrees east and latitude 48.4 degrees north, on April 1st at noon, I would have considered him a jester in keeping with the day, but here I am, in company with Dr. C. O. Dager, on board the "Prinz Adalbert," which sailed from Philadelphia on March 23rd, and is due at Hamburg on April 6th, 1911. Until ten o'clock of the day first mentioned, I had not given an ocean trip serious consideration, but Dr. Dager had decided to take the trip as a relief from his arduous professional work. I was naturally averse to sea voyaging, on account of wretched retching sensons, based upon nauseating experiences in the waters about Atlantic City while fishing.

Penrose Robinson very kindly took us, and our trappings, in Dr. Dager's swift Buick to the steamer. The goodbys were given, the gangways rolled away, and at 11 a. m. of the 23rd, our voyage began. The sail down the Delaware was uneventful. We reached the Atlantic about eight o'clock and the pilot was discharged. To avoid the cold of the northern sea lanes, as well as the probability of storms, the Captain kept well south until he entered the Gulf-stream, in which we continued about 900 miles, when it divides, the upper part bearing north, the lower part south.

The vessel upon which we are is one of many belonging to the Hamburg American Line. It is 424 feet long, 49 feet wide, and 78 feet deep. The horse-power is 3250, and the freight tonnage 6330. It has cabin accommodations for 135, and a steerage capacity of 1200. All the people of Hatboro could be well housed on this steamer and there would not be a crowd if the citizens of Johnsville and Ivyland decided to go along. Yet this is one of the Company's small steamers. The crew consists of a Captain, twelve officers, and 135 men. To all the person of most interest is Captain M. Dugge. He is a large, full brown whiskered man, kindly of face, commanding in appearance, with full military dress, dignified and courteous, ever alert for the safety of all aboard, and doing all he can to establish a good reputation for the great company of which his vessel is a part. I doubt if this, or any other company, can show a cleaner ship, a better crew, better service in every particular, than obtained on this steamer, under the wise direction of Captain M. Dugge. As far as I can see, and I have closely inspected the ship from top to bottom, every thing is right, and what is the best of all, the morale is perfect; every man is loyal to the core to Captain Dugge.

Of course I am particularly interested in the ship's doctor, S. Bach, M. D., a graduate of the Munich University, now thirty years old. He is a polished gentleman, an excellent physician, and carefully attends to the ship's sanitation, and the passengers' and crews' health. By invitation I accompanied him on his rounds as ship's doctor through the steerage, drug and operating rooms, and found everything in excellent order, and amply prepared for whatever may occur.

Chief-Engineer, A. Wiens, very kindly showed us the marvels of greatness that drives this ship day after day through these turbulent waters. The great double engines which whirl the two immense propellers by shafts 197 feet long and 13½ inches across, stagger the conception of the inexperienced. The great furnaces into whose open and fiery mouths, hundreds of tons of coal are devoured, are terrible to behold, and all shows man the master, and mind the ruler over matter. I realize as never before, that God rules all; that when he gave man mind, he gave him dominion over earth and the powers thereof.

The house-keeper is one of the most important dignitaries in a home, and the Chief-Steward is to the ship what the house-keeper is to the home. Our Chief-Steward, M. Schonewald, the most handsome man aboard, is exceedingly agreeable and efficient. He it is who has charge of all rooms, preparation and serving of foods, and the making up of requisitions for all foods and house-keeping supplies. His force consists of eleven assistant stewards, one chef, three cooks, baker, butcher, and three dish-washers. We certainly have a multiplicity of meals; breakfast at 8; bullion, bread, and soda crakers at 10, on deck, in your room, or wherever the steward chances to find you; lunch at 12.30; coffee, sandwiches, cheese, etc., at 3, and finally, dinner at 6.30. If you are indisposed, a touch on your bell will bring a steward, and he will bring anything you order to your stateroom. The stewards are attentive to your every wish and desire; in fact, such service and treatment would spoil us if kept up too long. The Purser handles all monies, looks after stores, has charge of the steerage department, and is generally speaking the book-keeper and financier of the ship. The discipline on board is that of the Navy, every man has his place, and those in command see that he fills it. To the inexperienced a voyage upon this great water seems dangerous, but, in reality, such it is not. Every provision is made for safety; no opportunity is allowed for risk or danger; no chances are taken. The Captain told me, "there is more danger in crossing congested Broadway, N. Y., once, than

In the midst of a pouring rain, Doylestown High School defeated Jenkintown High School, 4 to 0, Friday afternoon, in a five-inning game of baseball. The field was muddy and slippery but Doylestown played an errorless game.

The annual spring entertainment of the Old Pupils' Association of Abington Friends' School will be held on Sixth-day, 4th month, 28th, in the assembly room of the school building at 8 o'clock. Although these entertainments have been enjoyed by all who have visited them; an earnest endeavor is being made by the committee in charge, to have the coming one eclipse them all. The program will consist not only in music and recitals, but a unique feature will be a mock trial, breach of promise. The characters to be former pupils of the school. There is no doubt this will be an occasion of great interest. Any one troubled with dyspepsia or who has a bad attack of the blues, will here find a remedy; and those blessed with health and happiness should come and increase their store thereof. These entertainments are not confined exclusively to members of the association, but a welcome is extended to all who desire to meet with us and spend an evening of innocent pleasure and enjoyment. By thus giving occasional relief to the cares and worry of this strenuous existence we are enabled to go forward with renewed vigor and greater interest in the performance of the duties of life.

VOYAGE TO HAMBURG

the Atlantic six times," and he honestly believes it. Consider that this ship is provided with fourteen lifeboats, each with a carrying capacity for fifty people. It is impossible to sink these boats, and they are almost non-capsizable. Each boat is provided with 150 pounds of hard-tack, two barrels of water, rockets, mast and sail, oars and compass, and manned by nine seamen. Every day the men are drilled in swinging off these boats, which is done by small engines on either side of the ship; also, by hand. Every room is provided with lifepreservers. If occasion requires, every man will at command spring to his place, and fearlessly, faithfully and skillfully perform his duty. So where is the danger.

We are nearing the English Channel; we have so far had uninterrupted good weather. When our keel began to scratch the back of old Neptune, he began kicking up his heels and shaking up, not only our stomachs, but also our whole anatomy, however, in a day or two we became better acquainted, and since then have become quite friendly, really enjoying each others society. Our progress has seemed forever on, always surrounded by mighty waters. Will it ever end? Yes! at last! At six o'clock on Monday morning, April 3rd, Scilly Islands, lying a short distance off the southwest coast of England, came in view. Soon we entered the English Channel and our ocean voyage was ended. The atmosphere was considerably hazed during the day, and the outlines of objects of interest along the English coats were not clearly defined. Next land seen was Lizard's Head; then Plymouth and Prawle's Point. Scores of steamers and sailing craft were seen, and the English watch dogs, men-of-war, grimly smiled upon our German ship. We felt very safe, knowing that not only the German Emperor, but also the whole power of our dear Uncle Sam was back of us. During the night we passed the Isle of Wight, and about daybreak saw Hastings. Then came the rugged coast made of perpendicular chalk cliffs, beautiful to behold. Falkestone and Dover were nigh our ship when passed; both towns of much interest. At Dover the great walled in harbor was a wonder to behold. Close by on the rocks, the greatest sailing vessel of modern times, the Prussen, lay piteously on Dover's rocks; its five masts pleading to the world for relief; but none can come; pity can be given, but not relief. So it is in human life; we can always pity, but not always save.

We now enter the North Sea. The outlines of France is seen on our right and England to our left. Three hundred and seventy-five more miles and then again on land; the writer's first opportunity to stand upon European soil, under Germany's rule. At noon, April 4th, we are at longitude, 1.37 east, and latitude, 51.10 north and have sailed 3400 miles. By this description, how many can locate us on the map? What time is it in Philadelphia?

The social event of our trip was the Captain's dinner, served in the best style I have ever seen. At the close of the dinner your correspondent acting as toast-master called upon Rev. E. J. Hamilton, Ph. D., Jas. H. Hamilton, Ph. D., both of Cincinnati; Dr. C. O. Dager, all of whom thanked the Captain and his staff for the many kindnesses extended during our voyage. Unfortunately the Captain could not be present, on account of dangers ahead, being compelled to remain on the bridge. The Chief Engineer, First Officer and Ship's Physician responded in happy vein, both in German and English. Standing toast were drunk to the health of the German Emperor and President Taft. The dining room was beautifully decorated, prominent in the decorations were the German and American flags. With a hearty vote of thanks to Captain Dugge, his staff and assistants this elegant function ended. Nothing more clearly shows our officers' kindly feeling than the making of a beautiful birthday cake for one of our four-year-old passengers our last day at sea. As I am closing this letter I find that Miss Mary Sommers, of Quakertown, has all this time been my left hand neighbor at the table. We will reach Hamburg about one o'clock on the sixth and I must close this so it can be mailed at Cux-Haven, at the mouth of the Elbe, which is about fifty miles north of Hamburg.

DWELLING BURNED.

The frame dwelling house on the farm owned by Harvey Lapp, formerly the Samuel Oakford farm, on the New Galena road, about a mile from Chalfont, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning. There was no one on the premises at the time the fire broke out, Mr. and Mrs. Lapp having gone to church. The fire originated in the kitchen. The building was partially insured.

DAMAGE CASE SETTLED.

As attorney for Frank Fillman and Alfred Land, of Jamison, J. Vandalen made settlement this week with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for the injuries received by Mr. Land and Mr. Fillman's horses in a recent accident. A car of the P. R. T. Co. collided with Mr. Fillman's team which was driven by Mr. Land, who was thrown out and seriously injured. The horses were injured and the wagon smashed up. The accident occurred on Ogontz hill, York road.

"JURY-FIXING" CHARGE IN COURT

Witnesses Heard H. S. Fell Discussing Land Damage Suit But Nothing About Influencing Fellow Jurors.

Harry S. Fell, of Cheltenham, was before Norristown court Monday morning to answer the charge made by John McCaul, of Philadelphia, at the March term of civil court, that Fell had the jury, of which he (Fell) was one, influenced to give a verdict in favor of George T. Stewart and others, plaintiffs in a case for land damages against John B. Stevenson, of Abington.

McCaul charged that Fell voluntarily told him that he had influenced seven of the jurymen, and he thought it ought to be worth a box of Patrick Pendergast testified that he had heard a conversation between Fell and McCaul, but that no mention was made of "jury-fixing."

Thomas Gilbert, a neighbor of Fell, declared that when Fell told him he was serving on the jury the witness remarked that it was not a paying business, and Fell replied, "No; I will lose $25 this week by serving as a juror."

Fell testified that he had not talked with McCaul at the station. Clayton R. Saylor, foreman of the jury, heard the conversation between Gilbert and Fell, but didn't see Fell talking to McCaul.

James Krewson, county commissioner, and August Kiefy, called by McCaul, testified that Fell had spoken to them about the Stewart-Stevenson case while it was on trial, and that they had advised him not to discuss a case upon which he was a juror.

The Court held the case under advisement.

William Wright, of Mermaid lane, Chestnut Hill, employed in the Nelson Valve Works, Wyndmoor, fell from an embankment last Monday, sustaining severe lacerations of the scalp and internal injuries. He was taken to the Germantown Hospital.

SHOT BALD EAGLE.

A large bald eagle, one of the few seen in this part of the country in a number of years, was shot by Alfred Tettemer a few days ago on the John M. Darrah farm, near Hartsville. The bird measured five feet nine inches from tip to tip. Tettemer saw it first sitting on a hickory tree in a field not far from the buildings. It flew away later and alighted in a bunch of pine trees some distance away. That evening he went out with a gun expecting to find it roosting but the eagle started to fly and was brought down by two shots.

A baseball league of all the surrounding churches is being formed by the Young Men's Association of the Ambler Methodist church.

TREVOSE

Clifton Peel and family will again occupy the Cobb estate, although as the long lease expires this year it is reported that this will be their last season in Simpson's Grove. Servants are now here getting the big mansion and commodious grounds ready for their employers, who will arrive May 3d.

Samuel Kirkpatrick and family will reach Trevose on the 29th instant and reside in the same cottage as during the two previous years.

Clifton C. Cohill, of Philadelphia, states that himself and family will arrive on the 29th, weather permitting.

Russell Tomlinson, who occupies a poption of the building where A. M. Moyer has his store and post office, was aroused the other night by some one who was evidently trying to burglarize the premises. The night was dark and Russell was unable to give chase.

Frank C. Fischer and wife, of Tioga, are with us again for the summer and will occupy the cottage which they have had for several seasons. Mrs. Fischer is an English girl and when she returned from London last fall she brought with her a large number of fine photographs of landscape, marine views and English dwelling houses. The latter are particularly interesting as they show an architecture which indicates that many of the stone houses of the better class which were constructed in Pennsylvania a century ago—more or less—were patterned after those in the old country. It is a great privilege to listen to Mrs. Fischer's charming descriptions of our cousins across the seas.

Mrs. Isaac Sweeten and two daughters have gone back to Philadelphia, but will return to Simpson's Grove, on April 28th for the summer. While here they entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fischer and Mr. and Mrs. Remmer, as also several young ladies and gentlemen from the city.

Harry W. Riday writes that his people will not summer in Trevose this year. In fact he wishes to dispose of his real estate holdings here.

Mrs. George Harveston is visiting her mother at Taylorsville, but will reach Trevose in a few days, accompanied by the children.

Millard Terry, "the village blacksmith," has not been feeling well in some time and is now resting at home for a few days. He is adding two extra rooms to his beautiful house.

Joe Whitaker came from Camden to Trevose on Monday, riding his bicycle nearly all the way and making good time.

About nine o'clock on Sunday night last some miscreant threw a heavy stone against the front door of Jenks T. Roberts, doing considerable damage.

Mrs. William Ashton's health is greatly improved.

COLORED CATERER LEAVES FAMILY $150,000, 'UPWARD'

Will of John S. Trower, of Germantown Supposedly Worth $1,000,000, Puts Fortune in Trust.

When John S. Trower, the colored caterer died on April 4, at his residence, 5706 Germantown avenue, Germantown, he was credited with having left an estate worth considerable more than $1,000,000. His will was admitted to probate on Monday and, according to the petition of the executors, the personal estate is valued at "$50,000 and upward," and the real estate at $100,000 and upward."

The estate is devised to the widow, Matilda Trower, and their children and grandchildren. The Germantown Trust Company, the widow, and Grace Trower Cherry, a daughter, are named as the executors of the estate. Trower was considered the wealthiest colored man in the United States.

His will idirects that $500 shall be given to the First African Baptist church, 16th and Christian streets, for the mortgage fund of the church. Mr. Trower was a member of the church for years. The instrument bequeaths the land of the old homestead of Mr. Trower, located at Eastville, Northampton county, Va., to the Union Baptist church at that place, to be used for a baptizing ground.

The executors are directed to sell the real estate with the exception of a cottage at Ocean City, N. J., which is to be occupied by the widow as long as she desires. The real estate is to be sold at the discretion of the executors and the proceeds, with the remainder of the estate, is to be converted into a trust for the benefit of the widow and children.

The paper directs the carrying out of an anti-nuptial contract between Mr. and Mrs. Trower, which relates to the payment of a certain income and further directs that $50 per month be paid to Mrs. Trower during her lifetime, together with the income from a dwelling on West Chelten avenue, and also the payment of $25 per month for the support and education of each of his children. When the children reach the age of twenty-one years they are to receive $500 annually during their lifetime. When the children marry each is to receive $500 for the purpose of furnishing his or her home. This home each has the privilege of making in a house that is part of the estate and which is situate on East School street. They are to live in the house free of rent.

The will provides bequests to a sister, a sister-in-law, several nieces and nephews. It also provides that after the death of the widow and when all the children have attained their majority, they are to receive the income from the trust fund. The bulk of the fortune is to eventually be distributed among the grandchildren upon the decease of the parents.

The testament of the decedent draws attention to the fact that Trower was in the catering business and he regards it as very valuable. He directs that it be continued, and the profits revert to the benefit of the estate. He recommends that a corporation be formed of the business.

MAN HANGED HIMSELF.

Albert Girten, colored, of Bridgton, Middletown township, committed suicide on Saturday afternoon by hanging in the barn of Page Davis. HOW I Was Cured of Malaria

"I was for over five years troubled with Malarial Fever. It would almost always come on in the Spring and would bother me for the remainder of the summer. I tried different medicines, but they did not seem to help me. I also had the doctor off and on for some time but the next year I would be troubled just the same and I would have to be at home for several weeks. I would be in bed one day and have chills and a heavy fever, and the next day I would be up about the house, and this is the way I would be for several weeks each summer.

"I finally decided to try some good blood medicine, so I began taking Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and found it did me lots of good. I began taking it early in the spring and continued taking it all through the summer. I found, after taking a few bottles, that my body was covered with pimples, and it seemed to drive all the humor out of my blood. After that I felt much better, and now I am just as healthy as ever I was, and I am never troubled with Malarial Fever."—GEORGE P. STRONG, 35 Groveland Street, Lynn, Mass. Thousands of people believe in

Pinkham's Blood Purifier

Malaria is caused by a parasite which gets into the blood, and unless the blood is in a healthy condition and has normal resisting properties, they attack and destroy the red corpuscles, and so seriously impair the general health.

Chills and fever are the most marked symptoms of Malaria, which can be cured by purifying and enriching the blood. Mr. Strong found that Pinkham's Blood Purifier cured him after all other means had failed, and what it did for Mr. Strong it will do for other sufferers.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

DAIRY INSPECTORS AT WORK

Montgomery and Bucks Counties in Field of Examination.

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board has started a system of dairy inspection in the territory supplying Philadelphia with milk. The inspections are to be made as nearly as possible to conform with the recommendations made in the report submitted by the Milk Commission of Philadelphia, appointed by Mayor Reyburn.

Forty-three inspectors were called to the Veterinary School of the University of Pennsylvania last Monday and the different phases of milk inspection were discussed. A territory was assigned each inspector, and the actual work of inspection began Tuesday.

Addresses were made by John A. Vogelson, chief of the Bureau of Health, who told of the necessity of having a system of milk and dairy inspection; Dr. A. C. Abbott, professor of hygiene at the University of Pennsylvania, former Director of the Department of Public Health and Charities, who spoke of the necessity of a system of inspection and explained the chances and opportunities of destroying the wholesome qualities of milk if it were not handled properly.

Dr. J. P. Turner, inspector of dairy farms and livestock for the District of Columbia, told of the system of inspection in effect in Washington and the regulations enforced to insure a supply of pure and clean milk for that city; Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the pathological division of the Bureau of Animal Industry, spoke on the bacteriological conditions affecting milk and explained points on regulating the supply and preventing contamination of milk; Dr. L. A. Klein, instructor in milk hygiene at the veterinary department of the University, impressed the members with the necessity of cleanliness, which should be maintained in caring for animals and stables; David C. Clegg, chief of the milk inspection division of the Bureau of Health, also spoke of the existing conditions and the methods most advisable in the effort to better the city's milk supply.

The meeting was called by Dr. C. J. Marshall, State veterinarian and professor of veterinary medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, who was also a member of the Milk Commission of Philadelphia. Doctor Marshall and Dr. S. McC. Hamill, president of the Certified Milk Commission of the Philadelphia Pediatric Society, explained some of the recommendations contained in the commission's report to the Mayor.

The inspections at present will embrace the territory included in Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lebanon, Lancaster, Montgomery and Schuylkill counties.

NO FRAUD WANTED AT HAY YARD.

On the 7th of April the superintendent of the Hay Market Company at 12th and Cambria streets, discovered a man hidden in a load of hay, when it was drawn on the scales to be weighed. He pulled the man out by the collar, and accompanied by a policeman, took the culprit before a police magistrate, who sentenced him to four months in the house of correction. The same day two other men were detected taking stone out of their wagons after their loads had been weighed. All of these parties come from Bucks county, and have been forbidden the use of the yard. The scales of the hay market company are kept correct at all times, and are the standard of the city for weighing hay, straw, and other farm produce. The president and board of directors of the company are determined to protect against fraud, the consumers of loose hay, who patronize the market, to the full extent of their ability.

PURE SAUSAGE LAW.

Discussing the new Pure Sausage law, which has just been signed by Governor Tener, Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust said:

This bill was intended to divorce the meat shop from the grist mill and the drug store, and to favor the use of coal tar dye for beautifying the costumes of the fair sex, rather than for giving abnormal colors to the human interior.

The sausage act specifically forbids the use, in the manufacture of sausage, of cereal and vegetable flours, and also the added water which such flours will enable the sausage to hold and keep until the frying pan is reached. Many a housewife will recall that the article she took to be a sausage, when tested by the prickling fork applied to the sausage in the heated pan, spurted water freely to the ceiling, and in general acted like a broken fire hose.

The new act is intended to restrain those sausage dealers who have been in the habit, in past years, of cooking their bologna in coal tar dye for the purpose of making it appear better than their competitors were able to do by the use of good, wholesome, natural meats; and also those whose instincts of economy have led them to use inferior products, too long kept, and to employ sulphites and other powerful drugs to aid them in palming off upon the people these unfit materials. The law defines sausage and excludes from its manufacture all materials that are not clean and sound and suitable for human consumption.

This bill was drafted and passed as the result of the demand by the honest and reputable sausage makers of the State, large delegations of whom, from Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Scranton, appeared before the legislative committee and urged the passage of the act.

SPRING FLOWERS ON SHOW

Annual Exhibit of Chestnut Hill Horticultural Association.

Society folk of Chestnut Hill and Germantown turned out in large numbers for the annual spring exhibition of the Chestnut Hill Horticultural Society, held in the lecture room of the Chestnut Hill branch of the Free Library, 8711 Germantown avenue.

The room was a mass of sweet smelling spring flowers with banks of hyacinths, tulips, lilies, daffodils, narcissus and spiraea rising around the walls.

Mrs. John White Geary and her gardener, John Bell, carried off most of the prizes of the exhibition. Prizes given by Hosea Waterer, for the three best pans of tulips, hyacinths, narcissus and the three best Easter lilies were awarded by the judges to the Geary collection.

The Henry F. Michell prizes for 12 best pots of hyacinths, the best pan of Murillo tulips and the best pan of Emperor narcissus also went to Mrs. Geary, and the Horticultural Society prize for the best collection of spring flowering plants was carried off by Mrs. Geary likewise.

Mrs. Geary and John Bell received certificates of merit for the general excellence of the Geary exhibition. Another prize given Mrs. Geary was the C. A. Knapp prize for the best Easter lily.

The first Henry A. Dreer prize for the best fern of any variety was given to Stephen W. Ager, the second to Mrs. Robert Haywood. For a paper on bulb cultivation Mr. Ager was awarded a certificate of merit.

The judges were C. A. Knapp, William B. Scott and John Day.

CROP PROSPECTS FAVORABLE

The officials of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture report excellent crop prospects in this State. The late winter and abundant rains, with absence of late frosts, have proved advantageous, and large yields of grain and fruits are predicted.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin, who compiled the crop report, says that the wheat appears to be doing very well and to have come through the winter without injury. As a large acreage was sown last fall, larger than for a decade in some counties, he looks for a heavy crop.

Reports from orchard inspectors show that fruit trees are in good condition and that spraying has become so general that hopes are entertained for a splendid crop of apples and other fruits. A big increase in bearing trees is expected this year owing to the extensive planting in the last half-dozen years and systematic steps for the control of pests.

CRIME MYSTERY.

Elk lake, in Sullivan county, concealed for a time one of the deepest of Pennsylvania's criminal mysteries.

Nearly fifty years ago John Veitengruber, a little old cobbler, who lived near the lake disappeared. No trace of him could be found. All during the snow-covered and ice-bound winter officers of the law made search for the little old German or his body. He seemed to have vanished as completely as if the earth had swallowed him up.

The story is one of the most exciting of the North American's series of Pennsylvania crime mysteries. All who are interested in the criminal mysteries of the state will want to read this number of the series.

Mr. and Mrs. George Herman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Earl Woollens and daughter, and John Houlon and friend, Miss Ruth Catterman, on Easter Sunday.

The baseball team of the G. K. Heller school defeated the team from the Shoemaker school of Ogontz, at Burholme Park, on Monday by the score of 5 to 4.

The game of base ball which was to have been played last Saturday, between the local team and the Mawson B. B. C. was cancelled by the latter, owing to the reason that the grounds were too wet, as they thought. Manager Francke had a picked team lined up against the regulars and a good, practice game resulted, nevertheless. Herbert Zeh, who pitched for the regulars, and Harold Pike, who played second base for the picked team, furnished the comedy for the afternoon. This Saturday the home team will cross bats with the Lindley A. C., and a good game is anticipated. Come out and root.

JAMISON

FAVOR TROLLEY LINE.

On Wednesday evening, April 12th, a large and enthusiastic meeting, of 50 or more, was held in the hall at Jamison, for the purpose of improving the community. The main purpose of the meeting was to see about the extension of the trolley to Furlong and about improving the Old York road.

The meeting was called to order by electing E. W. Holbert president and G. W. Rubinkam, secretary.

On motion a committee of nine from three different villages, Jamison, Bridge Valley and Furlong, was appointed as follows: Jamison, G. W. Rubinkam, William H.Conard, William Carney; Bridge Valley, E. P. Carrell, Wilson Vandegrift, Charles DeCoursey; Furlong, Samuel Dudbridge, Gilbert Percy, John Goss. The committee was directed to canvass the section to see what help would be given to build the road in the way of subscription. They decided that if the trolley was to come up here, the people would have to help build it.

This committee is to co-operate with the Hartsville Improvement Association and the Business Men's Association of Hatboro.

C. Fleischauer and daughter, Katie, spent Wednesday in Philadelphia.

Miss Bessie Hare, of Davisville, is spending this week with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mayer entertained relatives from Philadelphia on Sunday.

ROSLYN

Benjamin Farenwald was home over Easter.

Mrs. William Salsbury, who has been quite ill, is on the mend.

Our bank, store and Y. M. C. A. (?) were closed on Easter Monday.

Mrs. George Kelly has returned after a sojourn at Evanston, Ill.

Edward Towill has been making improvements about his house.

Some of the residents have attended the Wild West show at Nicetown.

John Bierlin and family returned to town after living in the city for a year.

Miss Ida Krewson, of Buckmanville, spent the week-end with Miss Anna Tull.

Measles are quite prevalent in the vicinity, some being quarantined and others not.

Rev. Dr. George Cooper, pastor of the Jenkintown Baptist church, was a caller here Tuesday.

Mrs. William L. Tull and daughter recently visited Mrs. Horace Kreusen and Miss Florence Kreusen, of Richboro.

A meeting will be held in St. Paul's chapel on Monday evening, April 24, at eight o'clock, for the purpose of considering the advisability of making the chapel a union association. The matter of continuing the work by systematic contribution will also be discussed. You are earnestly requested to be present.

It is reported that several new houses will be built here this summer. A Jenkintown man, who wishes to rear his children in the country, is looking at a farm, which, in his opinion, is an ideal spot. If he buys he will greatly improve the property. Several bungalows, it is believed, will be erected during the summer months. Altogether, an unusually active real estate market is looked for.

Miss Lovejoy entertained at "500" on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Hardy, whose engagement to Frederic H. Lovejoy was recently announced. The decorations were pink. The guests included, besides Miss Hardy, Miss Mary Hess, Miss Florence Bare, Miss Polly Smith, Miss Abby McClure, Miss Kate Clarkson, Mrs. Gerardus Clarkson, Mrs. Henry Martyn Medary, Mrs. E. H. Dickerson, Miss Stitt, Miss Helen Stitz, Mrs. Howard Reynolds, Miss Eleanor Darrach and Mrs. Nevin.

Residents of the village were more than surprised on Tuesday morning to discover that the sign "Roslyn" placed on the trolley waiting shed by the improvement Association had been torn off during the night and smashed to pieces. At first it was believed Easter Monday celebrating parties had done the job while on their way home, but many are of the opinion that such a piece of work could only have been done by strictly sober persons. This act of vandalism rivals the high handed actions of the grafting magistrates who infest some of our towns, and is being thoroughly investigated by the Abington police. If the guilty persons are apprehended there is little doubt that an example will be made of them.
